

There are lots of things to do at the Mississippi Children's Museum like play with water, go through tunnels, relax while your kids play, buy toys, blanket, puppets and just imagine playing the biggest scrabble game in the world!! Just....express yourself. That is my motto. At the Children's Museum you can milk a cow, see what it's like milking one, and go through hard steps...like squeeze and pull, squeeze and pull. Come on in the Mississippi Children's Museum!

One huge big prize is that everything in the museum is really, really, really fu. Plus, if you get tired walking up and down the stairs, you can go on the Rocket Elevator! It's really cool because you get to go up and down and land on earth. The museum has activities like race cars, dance central (where you dance on stage) and there's like a gazillion things on earth and the moon.

Well I had infinities of fun and I hope you do too at the Mississippi Children's Museum which is next to the Museum of Natural Science.
